Week 3 Ideas for Home and School

Each student will create a personal letter or note to God, expressing his or her genuine love and honor to Him. Letters may be started at school, completed at home to incorporate the ideas of their family, and then returned to school. (These are needed for their outdoor worship service with chapel partners.) It is also suggested that families compile their own letters to God, expressing their gratitude and love.

Students can draw names from their class, and each one will be given a colored sheet of paper with "God Celebrates_____". Students will then create a list of positive traits about the person they selected. These will be listed on the celebration page.

Ideas for the Home and School: Periodically having a moment of silence to meditate on their prayers, joys, blessings, and other meditations. Finding a special place to meditate is suggested.
